UPDATE TO ALL FAMILY AND FRIENDS

Hello, we are still awaiting one resident test result and therefore remain in outbreak until Ottawa Public Health receives this result and declares the outbreak over. We are checking regularly for this result, however, we know that the return time for results has increased with demand increasing.

The good news is that no further positive results have been received.

Yesterday, the province announced that Covid19 testing for asymptomatic people will be provided in pharmacies across the province including 13 in Ottawa. I hope that this will make the process for all of our visitors easier to get tested and therefore visit St. Pat's.

Please see the link below to all of the pharmacies to find one close to you:
