UPDATE TO ALL FAMILY AND FRIENDS

Hello, we unfortunately have to report that we a new positive resident case on Wexford. This puts the home area in Suspect Outbreak. The resident case is related to a designated caregiver exposure and only affects that resident. We are still waiting on results for some residents on Wexford and other home areas in order to take them off isolation.

Carlow and Cavan have had new exposures due to 2 new positive staff cases since yesterday's update. Residents who are considered close contacts with these staff members will be placed on isolation. As both Carlow and Cavan were already in outbreak, many of the affected residents were already isolated. The families of the residents that were newly isolated will be contacted directly.

In addition, a resident on Dublin is considered a close contact to a designated caregiver that has tested positive.

We anticipate that the next update will be on Tuesday January 4th unless there is a new outbreak area or a new positive resident case.

Wishing you a healthy and happy New Year,
